

Resource Updates

SAMHSA-HRSA hosted a webinar on February 28th that offered behavioral-primary health integration protocols from the Million Hearts initiative. The integrated use of Million Hearts' blood pressure protocols by primary care and behavioral health care providers can lower the risk of hypertension and help reduce cholesterol and lower blood pressure for people with mental illness. In case you missed it, click here to review the presentation slides. Oklahoma has had success within this initiative! The Pawhuska Indian Health Center serving Osage County in Oklahoma, was named a 2013 Million Hearts' Hypertension Control Champion. Read more about their success in blood pressure control.

TSET recently announced a resource available on the TSWM website to help employers calculate the cost of tobacco. This tool is available to give businesses a better understanding of the financial burden associated with smoking-caused productivity losses and offer motivation for tobacco-free workplaces. Additionally, read what Dr. Risa Lavizzo-Mourey, President and CEO of Robert Wood Johnson Foundation had to say about the role of corporations in wellness and why community health is a business issue.

Funding Opportunities

Raising Places by the RWJF is an exciting new funding opportunity designed to engage communities to explore the symptoms and root causes of local challenges, identify leverage points and create tangible solutions. Community-specific outcomes will be based on what it means locally to build a "healthy, child-centered community." This opportunity truly speaks to the CHIO mission, to create thriving, healthy communities through cross-sector collaboration and diverse partner engagement. Deadline is March 31, 2017.
